GERMANS UNREPENTANT
INSULT PEACE COUNCIL
AND AROUSE ENMITY

(By Associated Press.)
VERSAILLES, Wednesday, May 8.—Tense moments marked the presentation of the peace terms to the Germans. The German interpreters didn't fail to emphasize fully every sharp clause of every phrase of Count Brockdorff-Rantzau's reply to Clemenceau.

Frequently Clemenceau, Wilson and Lloyd George put their heads together in evident anger at the cutting utterances of the German spokesman as if deliberating upon the advisability of an immediate answer.

The program was unaltered, however.

The Germans entered the chamber with all the confidence of victors. They bore themselves without a trace of nervousness and acted like they were deliberating on equal terms with their adversaries. The German spokesman didn't rise like Clemenceau, but read his speech sitting. Some remarked that physical conditions may have dictated this apparent discourtesy. The bold unrepentant declarations of the Germans caused a murmur of indignation in the chamber.

Allied triumphs remained after the Germans left for discussion of the new situation.

Clemenceau explained the conditions of the negotiations, telling the Germans there would be no oral discussions and they must submit their observations in writing within 48 days.

When the German interpreter began the French translation of the treaty's text, Clemenceau called for louder utterance. The interpreter finally moved to the head of the table to deliver the German plenipotentiaries' bold, and frequently of hostile message, sentence by sentence into the faces of Clemenceau, Lloyd George and President Wilson. The count's guttural German replied rang out in strong emphasis, particularly when he declared the

CHINA AROUSED
BY RANK WRONG

(By Associated Press.)
PEKIN, Monday, May 5.—National sentiment is aroused at Peking, and throughout China over the peace conference disposition of Shantung, and Kiao-Chau. The press is united in demanding that the territory be returned to China unfettered. Parliament has adopted a resolution deprecating the decision. A boycott of Japanese goods is much discussed in official circles.

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, May 8.—Serious concern is felt in official circles over the agitation in Peking, Tokyo, in opposition to the ratification of the peace treaty. It is feared that Japanese warnings to China may be the prelude to action, should the Japanese subjects suffer violence. Almost total suspension of cable service between China and the United States added to the feeling.

CONGRESS HAS SOMETHING TO DO

(By Associated Press.)
PARIS, Wednesday.—The first move toward an alliance of France, England and the United States supplementing the peace treaty is understood to have been made by Clemenceau in a letter to Wilson. Latter letters brought out the fact that while the British and French plenipotentiaries were free to conclude arrangements, Wilson must have congressional action. This developed a tendency to place the whole matter before the American congress.

MacNamara Buys Eight
Claims Inside Tonopah

The biggest deal put over in mining circles in Tonopah reached conclusion this afternoon when the money changed hands and buyers took possession of 130 acres located in an air line within half a mile from the Tonopah post office. The buyer was J. L. Joseph, president of the MacNamara Mining and Milling company who bought for that company which will begin operating within a minute's delay. In fact work on the group began this morning when surveyors began running their lines preliminary to setting up permanent monuments and clearly defining the ground involved in the transaction.

The deal has been hanging fire for two years during which time various complications arose which delayed delivery. All these clouds have been dissipated and today a clear title was taken out of escrow with the Tonopah Banking Corporation. The ground is at the southern base of Mount Brougher in a district that has been held sacred to the most picturesque concentration of tin cans that ever decorated the outskirts of a mining camp. In fact the entire 130 acres is sown three feet deep with broken bottles and glittering cans that may be seen for miles out on the desert glisten in the sun. This is the ground which reports state is going to prove one of the richest producers in the Tonopah district. The parties making the sale were Sam Lutz, H. R. Cooke, Frank Miller, George Davidovich, Grant Merkle and Murdo Smith, administrator of the estate of the late Angus Smith. Eight locations are included comprising what appear on the Moran map of 1912 as the St. Patrick, Vedanta, Vedanta Nos. 1 to 3, Bio, Crescent and Mendis. The group forms the south end line of the West End Consolidated and have been relocated as the Pup group. The Pup is the former St. Patrick and the remainder of the claims are known as Pup Nos. 1 to 7.

The MacNamara company is ready to rush installation and President Joseph said this morning that the heaviest outfit seen in the district in 90 days. The general suspicion is that the purchase was based on the strike of the Ohio vein whose wonderful enrichment has been regarded as one of the greatest assets of the West End.

Henry Jones who formerly lived on Belmont avenue was one of the first locators and the St. Patrick was owned in Philadelphia by local capitalists who went as far as applying for a patent without ever making the survey. Sam Lutz, the chief owner, was born in Pennsylvania of Dutch parents and came west at an early age since which he has followed mining. He was known as one of the most active and successful locators in Cripple Creek and was deported from Victor when the Citizens League brought the Colorado National Guard to that camp. Mr. Lutz was one of the several hundred marched out at the point of a bayonet and sent down the canyon and in company with most of his associates came to the desert to start anew in life. At one time he was engaged in locating claims and cutting his friends in on the locations until it is said, that today he owns over 80 well located mining claims. Forty of those are east of the Belmont in the Tonopah district. For over a year Mr. Lutz has been associated with Dan Helman in leasing time ponds of the Extension running to the lines of the West Tonopah.
